INDICATE AMERICA'S THIRD VICTORY OVER 'JAPS' IS UNDERWAY

Believe 7 Enemy Warships and 1 Transport Are Sunk Or Damaged

INCOMPLETE REPORT

Definite Victory Not Claimed Until Full Reports Are Available

By Joseph A. Bors
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 16.—(INS)—Incomplete reports from fog-shrouded Alaskan waters indicated today that America's third stunning victory over Japan's so-called invincible navy may be in the making in the north Pacific.

Following closely the smashing American successes over the Nipponese in the Coral Sea and at Midway Island, preliminary advices from the Aleutians stated that as many as seven Japanese warships and one transport may have been sunk or damaged by U. S. bombers in that area.

On the basis of the Navy's latest communication which said that "air attacks upon enemy landing parties" are continuing, Naval experts declined, however, to claim another major victory for American forces pending more conclusive evidence from the isolated north Pacific.

These sources hesitated to claim definite victory in the fear that U. S. counter blows struck to date might not be sufficiently powerful to bar the Japs from their invasion objectives.

Pointing out that foul weather and fog has hampered American reconnaissance and attack operations, the Navy stated that reports "indicate" that at least three cruisers, one destroyer, one gunboat and one transport have been damaged, "some of them severely."

At the same time, a telegram of congratulations reportedly sent to officials of the Glenn L. Martin bomber plant in Baltimore by Lieut. Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the Army's Air Forces, apparently disclosed for the first time that a Jap cruiser was sunk.

LARGE BENSLEM TOWNSHIP AREA SPRINGS INTO FAST ACTION UNDER AIR-RAID TEST ALARM FOR DISTRICT

The communities of Andalusia, Cornwells Heights, Eddington and Newport Terrace in Benslem Township, had a test air-raid alarm last night. It was not a "blackout" as the "raid" signal was struck at 7.40 and the "all-clear" sounded at 8.45 during daylight hours.

The "raid" was staged to discover the flaws, if any, in the system which had been devised to protect the residents of the area if an enemy should attempt an invasion.

The plans were elaborate and in detail, and the participants co-operated splendidly in putting them into practice.

Air-raid wardens and emergency police manned their posts, first-aid men and women went to their stations, ambulances were ready to be rushed to scenes of casualties, a base hospital and casualty stations were ready to receive the "injured." Dispatchers sat at desks in zone nerve-centers with charts and maps in front of them ready at an instant to send aid where requested.

There was color, action and thrills. Promptly at 7.41 the whistle at the Badenhausen plant sent out its shrill note that the "raid" was on. The bell in St. Francis Industrial School rang furiously and bombs were sent into the air and as they burst they sent out a warning to all that the area was "under attack."

A buffet lunch was served to: Mrs. John Preska, Mrs. Richard Sabatino, Mrs. Anthony Alta, Mrs. Nicholas Torano, Mrs. Vincent Delia, Mrs. N. Cooper, Mrs. James Flannigan, Mrs. James Genco, Mrs. Thomas Sharp, Mrs. Thomas Delia, Mrs. Anthony Flatch, Mrs. John Massiello, Mrs. A. Massiello; the Misses Anna Sagolla, Emma Sharp, Mary Skehan, Frances Lawler, Jean and Mildred Delia, and Angelina Barraco.

Young women members of the Benslem Township First Aid Emergency Corps, attractively uniformed, sat in casualty stations waiting to be summoned. Ambulance drivers sat behind the wheels of their machines, and Boy Scouts, some on bicycles, some on foot, were eagerly waiting to carry messages wherever they might be dispatched.

At the nerve-center controlling Eddington and Cornwells Heights, sat Creighton Vandegrift at a telephone. Joseph Kish was the man in charge of dispatching the ambulance from first-aid headquarters, while Dr. John F. McFadden was on duty at the base hospital in Holy Ghost College. Jesse Wendkos was at the "nerve-center" in Andalusia situated in the office building of Mitchell Company; and the residence of E. Paul Patton, Flushing, was the headquarters for that section of Benslem Township. The Newport Fire Co. station was another point of contact.

With the sounding of the alert J. Wallace Shaw, chief co-ordinator; Jacob C. Schmidt, Jr., district warden; and Robert B. Downing, chief of Emergency Police in Zone 2, made a tour of observation of the entire district.

At Brown street and Taylor avenue, Warden Raymond Camburn was found putting a splint on the "broken" leg of Creighton Vandegrift, Jr.

Two "casualties" were found at the residence of George Lyons, where John Damanti and Elmer Pressell were being bandaged. They were placed in the ambulance of the Benslem Township Emergency First Aid Unit. This ambulance is the converted light covered truck of Charles Kuhn. It has been so converted that it makes an ambulance.

RABBIT "KING" HAS 500 PEDIGREE CHINCHILLAS

Provide Expensive Fur; Also Excellent Meat Quite Cheaply

THEY MULTIPLY FAST

SELLERSVILLE, June 16.—Sellersville's rabbit king, Thornton W. Pride, has at his rabbit ranch 500 pedigree giant chinchilla rabbits, which he is using for breeding and fur purposes. But so fast do they multiply that by now the number no doubt has greatly increased.

The soft-furred blue-gray rodents produce both excellent meat cheaply and expensive fur.

Due to the war the greatest part of the fur imported to this country has been cut off. Furriers know that the great portion of rabbit fur came from Australia, where the rabbits increased so rapidly they had to be killed off as pests. In America they are so few in the east that sportsmen have been buying them from Kansas and Missouri for restocking purposes.

Price began his rabbitry with a small group of good stock for the express purpose of breeding valuable fur bearers. He ships trios of them to all parts.

Two Are Hostesses At Shower For A Local Miss

Mrs. Frank Torano, Wilson avenue, and Mrs. Nicholas Scurti, Otter street, were hostesses on Saturday evening at a miscellaneous shower in honor of their sister, Miss Mina Massiello. The affair was held at the home of Mrs. Scurti. The decorations were white, and the gifts for Miss Massiello were tied to ribbons which were fastened to a sprinkling can hanging from the center of the ceiling.

A buffet lunch was served to: Mrs. John Preska, Mrs. Richard Sabatino, Mrs. Anthony Alta, Mrs. Nicholas Torano, Mrs. Vincent Delia, Mrs. N. Cooper, Mrs. James Flannigan, Mrs. James Genco, Mrs. Thomas Sharp, Mrs. Thomas Delia, Mrs. Anthony Flatch, Mrs. John Massiello, Mrs. A. RATIONING BOARD RECEIVES NEW RULES

Cautions Motorists That They Must Conserve Their Gasoline

EXPLAINS THE RULE

The new rules for the rationing of gasoline to be effective until July 15th have been received by the local Rationing Board. A member of the Board explained the rules as follows:

"When a person applies for a supplemental card it is first ascertained how many miles he covers per day. Then the number of days he will be employed up to July 15th is next figured. By multiplying the miles he covers each day by the number of days he will be employed up to July 15th, he will show his total mileage. The Government allows fifteen miles to each gallon of gasoline and thus by dividing 15 into the total mileage the quotient will show the number of gallons required. Inasmuch as each unit will be good for six gallons of gasoline the number of gallons is divided by 6 and the result will show how many units the applicant will require to carry him through to July 15th. It is somewhat difficult to understand at first but the real object in doubling the value of the gasoline unit is to permit the holder to save sufficient gas during the first half of the period to carry him through the second half or up to July 15th, when the new rationing laws go into operation.

Perhaps a hypothetical case will explain it better. Suppose an applicant

LIBERTY BOND MONEY IS TO BE REINVESTED

Will Be Used To Purchase $100 War Bond; Pupils, Teachers, Purchasers

FOR USE OF SCHOOL

During World War I, the pupils, teachers, and Miss Margaret Barrett, the principal at that time, by self-denial and great effort purchased a Liberty Bond. When the Liberty Bonds were called the money was placed in the savings department of a local banking institution.

Now, states Mrs. C. M. Loderbough, principal, it is the desire of the teachers of that building to use that money to purchase a $100 bond with the proviso that when this bond matures, the money will be used for some worthwhile project that will benefit the pupils of that building, in honor of those who sacrificed at that time.

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Meet In Hand to Hand Combat

Moscow.—While heavy shells from guns of the Russian Black Sea fleet screamed overhead, the Soviet defenders of Sevastopol met German attackers in hand-to-hand combat today, hurling back the enemy in a series of bloody bayonet charges on the historic Crimean battleground.

Naval planes from the Soviet aircraft carrier Stalin participated in the fighting, bombing and machine-gunning German positions while marine detachments landed by the Black Sea fleet played a part in disrupting the Nazi offensive plan.

German infantry troops, supported by tanks, are attacking repeatedly on two fronts, the Communist party newspaper Pravda reported. Each thrust is preceded by aerial bombardment. Latest front-line dispatches said the Soviets were maintaining all positions intact.

Soviet Forces Land at Yalta

London.—The German radio today admitted, according to Reuters, that seaborne Soviet forces had carried out landing attempts at Yalta, in the Crimea, and Marhup in the Ukraine, but claimed the attempts were "completely frustrated."

The Marhup landing reportedly was effected in an attempt to place Soviet forces behind the German lines in the Rostov area. An attack on Yalta apparently was designed to relieve Nazi pressure on the Sevastopol naval base.

Germans Claim Sinking of Destroyer

Berlin.—There were only minor operations around Sevastopol yesterday but German planes sank a Soviet destroyer in a Black Sea port, the German high command claimed today.

The German bridgehead across the Donets River was extended to the north, it was asserted, while Soviet attacks were repulsed on the central front and in the north.

In further German raids on Murmansk, 10 Russian planes were shot down, it was stated. German bombers attacked the Moscow area during the night.

The battle of Libya west of Tobruk has been decided in favor of the Axis, it was claimed. Axis troops were said to have reached the Mediterranean coast, trapping British and South African divisions at Gazala.

Driven from Homes by Flames
Philadelphia.—Dense clouds of smoke drove 35 occupants of two rooming houses to the street today when flames damaged the roofs and upper floors of the structures on Ninth street near Spruce.

Firemen arrived with their trucks silent and thus did not disturb patients in nearby Pennsylvania Hospital. After an hour's battle, the blaze was extinguished.

AUTOMOBILE CRASH RESULTS IN A SUIT FILED FOR DAMAGES

John L. Allen, Wilkes-Barre, Asks Sum of $326.25 Following Collision

TWO DIVORCE ACTIONS

Actions Filed By Mrs. Katherine C. Markley and Mrs. Mabel M. Hall

DOYLESTOWN, June 16.—One suit for damages as the result of an automobile accident at Quakertown and two actions in divorce have been filed in the Court of Common Pleas.

Claiming damages amounting to $326.25 as the result of a two-car collision, John L. Allen, Wilkes-Barre, has named Herman Berger, 20, of Nazareth, R. D. 1, the defendant in an action in trespass.

According to the statement of claim in the office of Prothonotary Homer S. Wentz, the plaintiff and defendant were driving their cars on Route 309, the Bethlehem Pike, January 31, when they figured in an accident near Quakertown.

Mrs. Katherine C. Markley has begun an action in divorce against her husband, Elmer R. Markley, charging him with desertion June 6, 1937.

They were married April 25, 1936, in Quakertown, by the Rev. Harry W. Fitting, pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church. The present address of Mrs. Markley is 609 Market street, Perkasie, and that of her husband is 410 Market street in the same borough.

In a libel in divorce Mrs. Mabel M. Hall, 631 Stanton street, Trenton, N. J., has named the respondent by her husband, George F. D. Hall.

The libellant, who avers that he and his wife were married December 2, 1919, in Elkton, Maryland, resides at 1111 Ohio avenue, Morrisville.

He alleges that his wife deserted him May 29, 1938.

WANT YOUNG WOMEN TO ENTER CONTEST

Suggestion Made That One Selling Most Bonds Be Designated "Miss America"

ASK FOR VOLUNTEERS

Numerous ideas and suggestions are being received by the General Committee having in charge the plans and arrangements for the patriotic demonstration to be held July 4th. Not all of these have been adopted and at a meeting of the committee tonight it is planned to have these ideas acted upon. The committee will be asked to either approve or reject the suggestions.

It is very important that every member of the committee be present at the meeting to be held tonight in the Municipal Building, beginning at eight o'clock.

One suggestion has been that in connection with the parade and pageant there be put forth an intensive effort to sell War Savings Bonds. Such an effort will require considerable detail work and would no doubt have to be handled by a sub-committee.

The idea has been advanced that a contest be arranged, whereby from a group of young women selling bonds, the one selling the most would be selected as "Miss America" or "Miss Liberty." The one so selected would be assigned a prominent part in the parade and pageant.

It has been stated that no organized

Long Period of Ill Health Fatal to Mrs. Wm. Cochran

In ill health for the past year, Mrs. Victoria Cochran, wife of William Cochran, died at her home, Lock 4, yesterday morning. She had been a resident of Bristol for the past 35 years, and was a member of Zion Lutheran Church.

Her husband survives, as do also the following daughters and sons: Mrs. Thomas Whitney, of Bliss, N. Y.; Mrs. John Weingartner, of Lansdale; Mrs. Jacob Lines, Mrs. Howard Fennimore, Mrs. John Bickle, and Harvey and Maurice Cochran, of Bristol.

The service will be held at the Molden funeral chapel, 133 Otter street, Thursday at two p. m., at burial being made in Bristol Cemetery. Friends may call Wednesday evening.

Discuss Establishment of S. Langhorne Town Hall

SOUTH LANGHORNE, June 16.—Initial steps have been taken to establish a town hall in this borough. Plans were discussed at a recent joint session of the South Langhorne borough council and fire company, held in the council chambers.

The idea presented by borough council calls for common use of the present fire house by both the company and council with neither disturbing the other's activities. In addition the Auxiliary will have the use of the building as it does at present but the building will also become the center of civic affairs in the town.

Space will be provided for a permanent council chamber where a meeting room will be arranged and space for filing of the borough records and other equipment will be provided.

No action was taken in this matter but the idea was presented and accepted favorably by all organizations. No action is likely until both organizations have an opportunity to meet individually and discuss the matter. This will probably take several months. When a full opportunity has been afforded for discussion the two groups will again meet to iron out the details.

Hearing In Equity In Case of Gertrude W. Spring vs. Thomas G. Hawkes

JUDGE BOYER ON BENCH

Most of the Time In Case Is Devoted To Conferences

(Special to Courier)

DOYLESTOWN, June 16.—At a hearing in equity, yesterday, the case of Gertrude Weaver Spring, the former Gertrude Weaver Davidson, of Bristol, against Thomas G. Hawkes, of Edgely, a member of the Philadelphia Bar, opened in the Bucks County court house.

The chancellor in the case is Judge Calvin S. Boyer.

Mrs. Spring is the complainant in the case; and Mr. Hawkes, the defendant, is also president of the Ward Davidson Company, Philadelphia, said to be the largest towel and robe manufacturing firm in the Philadelphia area.

During the course of the proceedings yesterday, it was stated that Mrs. Spring was secretary of the Ward Davidson Company for many years. One month after the death of Mrs. Spring's first husband, Mr. Davidson, it was testified that Mr. Hawkes became president of the Ward Davidson Co. at a salary of $5,000 a year. The defendant is a lawyer-trustee of the

To Hold Quarterly Conference of Police

The second series of 1942 Quarterly Police Conferences under the F. B. I. Law Enforcement Officers' Mobilization Plan for National Defense, will be held throughout Pennsylvania during the period from June 17 to June 30, 1942, it was announced by Mr. John F. Sears, Special Agent in Charge of the Philadelphia Field Division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The conference for this area will be held at Philadelphia on June 30, 1942. The meeting will convene at Court House, 9th and Chestnut Sts., at 7.00 p. m., and will be attended by all leading police officials in this district. Many questions vital to National Defense will be discussed.

The purpose of the conference is to aid in coordinating the efforts of the F. B. I. and all local law enforcement agencies in the war program. Instruction will be given in the methods in which local agencies may assist in combating espionage, sabotage, and subversive activities. Particular emphasis will be placed upon the new problems created by the establishment of the Eastern Military Area by the Eastern Defense Command and First Army, Governors Island, New York. Recent changes in Selective Service procedure in the Alien Enemy Control program will be discussed.

During the conference, motion pictures will be shown illustrating incendiary bombing attacks and several recent famous fires. Captain W. T. Cramer, State Fire Marshal, under Colonel Lynn G. Adams, Commissioner of Pennsylvania Motor Police, will talk on police duties during conflagrations caused by possible enemy air attacks and the police aspects of arson.

A large attendance of police officials and their representatives is expected. All who can possibly attend from this area are urged to be present, in view of the extreme importance of the subjects to be discussed.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Klernan
(U. S. Staff Writer)

Elmer Davis has joined the Army of the Potomac.

He will take command of the battery of light and heavy mimeographs, the fact camouflage specialist corps and the division of nonsense and stuff.

We have six departments and 30,000 persons—exclusive of army, navy and marines—working on news and getting results a country editor would fire his son for.

We have MacLeish leading one division, Mellett leading another, Donovan leading another and Rockefeller leading another—walking side by side down different streets.

All we want to know is the answer to "What's cooking?" and thirty thousand cooks haven't been able to tell us without muddling the broth.

Davis has been named head chief and we look for a meat pudding with meat in it.

Most of the 30,000 could be released to their draft boards without disrupting the country.

Thought for the day: Where's Elmer?

INCOME REPORTS

Reports of the incomes of certain prominent people in the large income group have recently been made under proper authority, but under conditions which Congress should no longer tolerate.

The incomes as reported are grossly deceptive. They do not include the amount received by the taxpayer after paying his taxes, but cover gross taxable income. In many instances it will be found that the recipient actually received for his own use only from one-fifth to one-half the amount reported through Federal channels. The government, which took the remainder in taxes, thus is trying to make it appear that John Taxpayer received in income for his own use money which went to the government.

The Federal government once reported farm incomes without mention of the value of products of farms that were consumed on farms,
or the value of capital investments
resulting from the farm families'
own work in making improvements.

This report was severely criticized as a deliberate attempt to create a false impression of farm incomes for the purpose of justifying farm subsidies. It was freely used by political spellbinders who were striving to foment discontent among farmers.

A demagogue can take the income figures as recently reported and the farm group revenue figures, and construct what seems to be a well-founded argument for a more equitable distribution of income. But the argument will be false and deceptive, and the Federal government will be a partner in the fraud.

Democracy works only when the people have the facts and the capacity to think for themselves. The American people are well endowed with ability to think, but the best thinking can not arrive at a sound conclusion on false testimony. It is the business of Congress to see that the government does not mislead the people, as it has done in these instances.

GRAZE AND GROW

The name of Charles F. Schnabel of Kansas City must be added to the list of American heroes, not as the author of some deed of derring-do but as the man who discovered the value of grass as a food. Who can say that his discovery may not serve a practical utilitarian purpose in the months ahead?

Schnabel lost his job in the desertion. He had six children to feed.
He started them in on grass and for eleven years he has kept on feeding them grass. Today they are all proportionately larger than their father and not one has a decayed tooth.

Schnabel's contribution lies in his method of preparing grass for consumption. Grass isn't easy to eat because it is unpalatable. Schnabel quick-dries it, powders it and puts it in his family's milk. That way it is virtually tasteless and easy to down.
Twelve pounds of powdered grass,
Schnabel found, contains more vitamins than 340 pounds of vegetables and fruits—more vegetables and fruit than the average person eats in a year.

For his explorations in the realm of grass-eating, Schnabel has become only the second man to whom little Rockhurst College ever gave an honorary degree, Marshall Foch being the other.

WILLIAMS POUNDS "DUSTY" BROWN
IN WINDUP UNTIL REFEREE MOFFO
STOPS FIGHT IN THIRD ROUND

"Red" Williams, flashy Trenton colored fighter, dished out too many body
blows to George "Dusty" Brown, Allentown, last night in the windup of a five-bout show in the St. Ann's A. A.
outdoor arena, Wood and Franklin streets. The result was that in the third round, Referee Sammy Moffo had to stop the bout to save Brown from further punishment.

Two damaging left-hand blows to the heart was the start of the finish
for the game little fighter from Allentown. Brown, although floored twice before the referee intervened, pleaded with Moffo not to stop the fight, but it was evident that he could not last.

At the start of the last round, Williams opened up with a barrage of rights and lefts, and one of these southern punches caught Brown on the jaw. The Pennsylvania boy went down and took the count of nine. He leaped up like a wild tiger and within the next few seconds gave all he had in an effort to get the best of Williams.

Williams weaved and bobbed and managed to escape Brown's furious spurt. Shortly after, Williams and Brown tangled in a body-punching duel but Brown was firing fast and soon was on the floor again for another nine count. He got up from the canvas and was not willing to quit it but his defense had cracked and when he went down the third time, Moffo stopped it. The time of the technical knockout was one minute and 55 seconds.

Only in the first session did Brown give a good account of himself. His lightning was on a par with Williams',
and he snaked in several hard rights to Williams' body. The second round went to the Jersey boxer and before the round was over Brown was groggy
as the result of having too many rights and lefts sunk into his body.

Marco could not fight, but imitated

a wild man as he pulled his punches
from the floor and attempted to hit Solomon with one of these. If any of the blows had caught Solomon, no one knows what the result would have been, for they packed plenty of power.
Solomon, cool as a cucumber, managed to side-step and back-step the blows, and in the meantime did a lot of effective punching as he floored Marco twice in the first round and twice again in the second. In the second round, the bout was stopped and given to Solomon.

Marco was smiling when he went down, and after being taken to his corner, said: "Boy, I'm glad that's over with."

Sam Corti, Trenton, had a hard time
in winning a close decision from Obie
Glover, Trenton, in a six-round bout.
A last-round rally by the Jersey steel worker earned him the decision, although Glover was pressing from the start.

The colored boy won two of the six rounds. Three, including the final round, went to Corti, while one was judged even. But it was that spurt in the last session that gave Corti the nod. For in this session, Corti swung the verdict to his favor.

Corti's infighting won him the first round, while in the second, Glover proved his best as he belted Corti twice with damaging blows to the face and towards the finish of the canto had Corti shaking from a volley of lefts and rights dished out very fast.

The third session was fairly even, while Corti put on his last finish to win the last two rounds and the decision.

In the opener, Eddie Clayton, Philadelphia, defeated Al Tracey, Philadelphia. Clayton also won his bout here two weeks ago.

It was announced that next week
Tony Maglione will return to the local ring to fight Johnny Grosso, Philadelphia.

ON THE SCREENS

GRAND THEATRE

One of Hollywood's most widely discussed pictures in years arrives in town this week at the Grand Theatre, when "Kings Row," screen adaptation of the best-seller novel, opens on Tuesday.

Many factors have contributed to arousing both public and professional curiosity about the manner in which Warner Bros. would deal with "Kings Row," not the least, of course, being the book, by Henry Bellamann, which led the best seller lists for more than a year.

RITZ THEATRE

Jackie Cooper is one film star who doesn't worry about the future. Instead of worrying he's doing something about it. In his current picture, "Glamour Boy," now at the Ritz Theatre, Jackie portrays a former child star who has been down on his luck.

"Confessions of Boston Blackie" will also be shown.

BRISTOL THEATRE

"Hello Annapolis," dramatic story of the famous U. S. Naval Academy, opens today at the Bristol Theatre with Tom Brown and Jean Parker. Larry Parks and Phil Brown head the featured supporting cast.

James Cagney in "Great Guy" is one of the features at the Bristol today. This is one of his best.

Today's Quiet Moment

(By the Rev. James R. Galley)
Pastor, Bristol Presbyterian Church

O Thou who art the way of truth and life, point out to us the way that leads to eternal life. Equip us with a steadfast faith in Christ which will enable us to face all hardships and overcome all trials. Turn our eyes toward Calvary's hill on which we see the suffering Christ. In the light of His suffering our trials fade into insignificance. Make of us willing bearers of the Cross, willing sharers of the load, that through us others may behold Him. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

of the United States. Tall, handsome, with his flowing mane of iron-gray hair, Mr. Price can be seen almost any day coming to town in his teal-green station wagon for supplies. He and his family occupy the old Sturm stone house on the farm near the P. P. & L. sub-station.

The rabbit warrens occupy a large portion of Price's farm, and no little of his time. Willow Brook farm, with its lovely old shade trees and attractive evergreen landscaping, makes a pretty setting for the "Rabbit King" who can show in black and white or "in the flesh" how much profit rabbits can bring. Two does and one buck can bring in $520.50 if they are bred according to Hoyle, promises Mr. Price.

From a purely commercial standpoint the giant chin-chins, as Price nicknames his pets, give a meat important as food; the fur is in great demand since more than 150 million raw rabbit furs and countless other millions were imported to this country before the war.

He goes on to say that 98% of all rabbit furs used in this country were imported before the war. Laboratory use is another means of making the rabbit something besides a hobby pet.

said company, and at one time served as attorney for the late Mr. Davidson.

It is alleged that after Mr. Hawkes became president of the company that he gained the balance of power of the stock.

The complainant is represented by Ira Jewell Williams, Philadelphia, an outstanding member of the Pennsylvania Bar Association, Thomas Ross, Doylestown, and Lawrence Monroe, Bristol, are associated with Williams as local counsel. The defendant's representative is James H. Sautter, Philadelphia, another brilliant lawyer, who has associated with him on the case Isaac J. Vanartsdalen, Doylestown.

Most of the time yesterday was given to conferences, one being held outside the court room from 12 noon until three o'clock. It is said that an effort is being made for the parties to reach an agreement.

Mr. Hawkes was called as the first witness yesterday, he being cross-examined.

It is set forth in the bill of equity that Hawkes became a trustee for the Ward Davidson Co. under a deed of trust. He testified that he became trustee in 1921, and owned one share of stock. He later served as counsel for the late W. L. Davidson. Hawkes testified that the period from 1921 to 1930 was a difficult one for the company, and that he (Hawkes) urged the issuance of additional stock to bring the company out on top where he claims it is today. Mr. Hawkes was co-executor of the estate of Mr. Davidson. He testified that in 1929 he realized that he had the balance of power in the firm. He further told in court that at a dinner at the Spring residence in Bristol the sales of stock of the company were discussed, adding that he did not remember that Mr. Spring asked him "How is it you want Mrs. Spring to sell out now when the company is going good, and you didn't want her to sell when the company was not going so good, and she had the control?"

The complainant alleges that the action of the defendant in his conduct of affairs of the Ward Davidson Co. were not to her best interests.

there would be 31 working days up to July 15. Multiplying 40 by 31 will show a total mileage required of 1240. Divide this by fifteen which represents the miles he is supposed to get on a gallon of gas and the result shows about 83 gallons. Each unit being valued at six gallons the six is divided into the 83 gallons to ascertain how many units are required. In this instance about 14 units would be required. Accordingly the applicant would get a B-2 card which contains fifteen units with one unit cancelled.

It is possible that this action of the Government in doubling the value of the unit until July 15, may lead to joy riding on the part of some, but when it is known that no additional supplemental cards will be issued it should impress them with the necessity of saving all the gasoline possible between now and June 30, so they may have sufficient to carry them over until July 15 when the new rationing laws go into effect.

The Government has granted the Rationing Board a new clerk and also permission to install a telephone.

HUNTER TEAM SCORES WIN OVER BADENHAUSEN

EDDINGTON, June 16—The Hunter team packed plenty of punch in its revamped line-up last night as it scored a 10-2 victory over the Badenhause team on Turner's field.

While its hitting in the punch was outstanding, the Hunter team also introduced a new hurler to the fans, Ralph McCabe. McCabe had one of those slow floaters which just lobbed over the plate. The Badenhause players seemed to take a toe hold and try to murder the ball and the result was just a pop-up.

Three hits was all that McCabe allowed the boiler-makers and two of these, a triple by Goodwin and single by Murphy came in the initial inning when both of the Badenhause mark-ers were shoved over the plate.

Line-ups:

FIFTH WARD CLUB MOVES NEARER TOP

The Fifth Ward Sporting Club moved a step closer to first place in the Bristol Softball League by scoring an 8-5 victory over the Bancroft-Hickey ten last night on Leedom's field.

Wildness on the part of R. Gerome, the Bancroft hurler, plus errors aided the Warders in their triumph as they were held to six safe bingles. Two passes and an error by Lee helped the Warders to a trio of markers in the first while errors his enabled the ultimate winners to count three more in the fifth.

The Bancroft team staged a rally in the sixth and hits by Mellor, Stewart, Brown and Feehan accounted for three markers.

WILSON TEAM PUSHES TAN-ART DOWN DEEPER

The Wilson Distilling Company's softball team pushed the Tan-Art aggregation deeper in the cellar of the Bristol Softball League with a 12-6 victory on the Rohm and Haas diamond.

W. Gotwald led the fourteen hit attack on the leather workers with three hits in four trips to the plate. Mount had three hits to lead the losers with the stick.
